Case No.: 2:22-cv-01324-MMD-EJY

STIPULATED CONFIDENTIALITY
AGREEMENT AND PROTECTIVE ORDER

1 Plaintiff Tetsuya Nakamura (“Dr. Nakamura”) and Defendants Sunday Group
2 Incorporated (“Sunday Group”), SGI Trust, Toshiki (Todd) Mitsuishi, and James Pack 3 (collectively, the “Defendants” and together with Dr. Nakamura, the “Parties”) hereby enter into 4 this Stipulated Confidentiality Agreement and Protective Order (“Protective Order”) pursuant to 5 Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(c) and Fed. R. Civ. P. 29.

6 Whereas the Parties desire to produce certain documents or other material which may 7 contain proprietary and/or confidential information, it is hereby stipulated and agreed, by and 8 between the Parties, through their respective counsel of record, that:

9 1. Applicability of this Protective Order: Subject to Section 2 below, this 10 Protective Order does not and will not govern any trial proceedings in this action but will 11 otherwise be applicable to and govern the handling and production of documents, depositions, 12 deposition exhibits, interrogatory responses, responses to requests for admissions, responses to 13 requests for production of documents, and all other discovery (“Discovery Material”) obtained 14 pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure or other legal process by or from, or produced on 15 behalf of, a Party or witness (the “Producing Party” or “Disclosing Party”) in connection with this 16 action to the Parties in this action who receive such information (the “Receiving Party”).

17 2. No Waiver: This Protective Order is entered solely for the purpose of facilitating 18 the exchange of documents and information among the Parties to this action without involving the 19 Court unnecessarily in the process. Nothing in this Protective Order, nor the production of any 20 information or document under the terms of this Protective Order, nor any proceedings pursuant 21 to this Protective Order shall be deemed to be a waiver of any rights or objections to challenge the 22 authenticity or admissibility of any document, testimony, or other evidence at trial. Additionally, 23 this Protective Order will not prejudice the right of any Party or nonparty to oppose production of 24 any information on the ground of attorney-client privilege, work product doctrine, or any other 25 privilege or protection provided under the law.

26 3. Designation of Information: Any Producing Party may designate Discovery 27 Material that is in its possession, custody, or control produced to a Receiving Party as 28 “Confidential” under the terms of this Protective Order, but only if the Producing Party in good

1 faith reasonably believes that such Discovery Material contains nonpublic, confidential 2 information as defined in Sections 5 and 6 below.

3 4. Exercise of Restraint and Care in Designating Material for Protection: Each 4 Producing Party that designates information or items for protection under this Protective Order 5 must take care to limit any such designation to specific material that qualifies under the 6 appropriate standards. Indiscriminate designations are prohibited.

7 5. Confidential Information: For purposes of this Protective Order, “Confidential 8 Information” means all information that constitutes, reflects, or discloses nonpublic information, 9 trade secrets, know-how, or other financial, proprietary, commercially sensitive, confidential 10 business, marketing, regulatory, or strategic information (regarding business plans or strategies, 11 technical data, and nonpublic designs), the disclosure of which the Producing Party believes in 12 good faith might reasonably result in economic, competitive, or business injury to the Producing 13 Party (or its affiliates, personnel, or clients) and which is not publicly known and cannot be 14 ascertained from an inspection of publicly available sources, documents, material, or devices.
15 “Confidential Information” shall also include sensitive personal information that is not otherwise 16 publicly available, such as home addresses; social security numbers; dates of birth; employment 17 personnel files; medical information; home telephone records/numbers; employee disciplinary 18 records; court documents sealed by another court or designated Confidential by agreement of the 19 Parties in another matter; wage statements or earnings statements; employee benefits data; tax 20 records; and other similar personal financial information. A Party may also designate as 21 “CONFIDENTIAL” compilations of publicly available discovery materials, which would not be 22 known publicly in a compiled form and the disclosure of which the Producing Party believes in 23 good faith might reasonably result in economic, competitive, or business injury to the Producing 24 Party.

25 6. Designating Confidential Information: If any Party in this action determines in 26 good faith that any information, documents, things, or responses produced in the course of 27 discovery in this action should be designated as Confidential Information (the “Designating 28 Party”), it shall advise any Party receiving such material of this fact, and all copies of such

1 documents, things, or responses, or portions thereof deemed to be confidential shall be marked 2 “CONFIDENTIAL” (whether produced in hard copy or electronic form) at the expense of the 3 Designating Party and treated as such by all Parties. A Designating Party may inform another 4 Party that a document is Confidential by providing the Bates number of the document in writing.
5 If Confidential Information is produced via an electronic form on a computer readable medium 6 (e.g., CD-ROM), other digital storage medium, or via Internet transmission, the Producing Party 7 or Designating Party shall affix in a prominent place on the storage medium or container file on 8 which the information is stored, and on any container(s) for such medium, the legend “Includes 9 CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION.” Nothing in this Section shall extend confidentiality or the 10 protections associated therewith to any information that does not otherwise constitute 11 “Confidential Information” as defined in Sections 5 and 6 herein.

12 7. Redaction Allowed: Any Producing Party may redact from the documents or 13 things it produces matter that the Producing Party reasonably claims in good faith is subject to the 14 attorney-client privilege or the work product doctrine. A Producing Party may not withhold 15 nonprivileged, responsive information solely on the grounds that such information is contained in 16 a document that includes privileged information. The Producing Party shall mark each redaction 17 with a legend stating “REDACTED,” and include an annotation indicating the specific reason for 18 the redaction (e.g., “REDACTED—Work Product”). All documents redacted based on attorney 19 client privilege or work product immunity shall be listed in an appropriate log in conformity with 20 federal law and Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(b)(5). Where a document consists of more 21 than one page, the page on which information has been redacted shall so be marked. The 22 Producing Party shall preserve an unredacted version of such document.

23 8. Use of Confidential Information: Except as provided herein, Confidential 24 Information designated or marked shall be maintained in confidence, used solely for the purposes 25 of this action, to the extent not otherwise prohibited by an order of the Court, shall be disclosed to 26 no one except those persons identified herein in Sections 12 and 13, and shall be handled in such 27 manner until such designation is removed by the Designating Party or by order of the Court.
28 Confidential Information produced by another Party shall not be used by any Receiving Party for

1 any commercial, competitive or personal purpose. Nothing in this Protective Order shall govern
2 or restrict a Producing Party's use of its own Confidential Information in any way.

3 9. Designations Upon Entry of this Protective Order: Once the Court enters this 4 Protective Order, a party shall have forty-five (45) calendar days to designate as Confidential any 5 documents previously produced in this action, which it can do by stamping "CONFIDENTIAL"
6 on the document, or informing the other Parties of the Bates-numbers of the documents so 7 designated.

8 10. Use of Confidential Information in Depositions: Counsel for any Party shall 9 have the right to disclose Confidential Information at depositions, provided that such disclosure is 10 consistent with this Protective Order, including Sections 12 and 13. Any counsel of record may 11 request that all persons not entitled under Sections 12 or 13 of this Protective Order to have access 12 to Confidential Information leave the deposition room during the confidential portion of the 13 deposition. Failure of such persons to comply with a request to leave the deposition shall 14 constitute substantial justification for counsel to advise the witness that the witness need not 15 answer the question where the answer would disclose Confidential Information. Additionally, at 16 any deposition session, (1) upon inquiry with regard to the content of any discovery material(s) 17 designated or marked as "CONFIDENTIAL";" (2) whenever counsel for a Party deems that the 18 answer to a question may result in the disclosure or revelation of Confidential Information; and/or 19 (3) whenever counsel for a Party deems that the answer to any question has resulted in the 20 disclosure or revelation of Confidential Information, counsel to any Party may designate those 21 portions of a deposition transcript and/or video of any deposition (or any other testimony) as 22 containing Confidential Information in accordance with this Protective Order either by placing a 23 statement on the record during the deposition or by notifying all other Parties in writing, within 24 thirty (30) calendar days of receiving the transcript or video that it contains Confidential 25 Information and designating the specific pages, lines, and/or counter numbers as containing 26 Confidential Information. If a designation is made via a statement on the record during a 27 deposition, counsel must follow up in writing within thirty (30) calendar days of receiving the 28 transcript or video, identifying the specific pages, lines, and/or counter numbers containing the

1 Confidential Information. If no confidentiality designations are made within the thirty (30) day
 2 period, the entire transcript shall be considered non-confidential. During the thirty (30) day 3 period, the entire transcript and video shall be treated as Confidential Information. All originals
 4 and copies of deposition transcripts that contain Confidential Information shall be prominently 5 marked "CONFIDENTIAL" on the cover thereof and, if and when filed with the Court, the 6 portions of such transcript so designated shall be filed under seal. Counsel must designate 7 portions of a deposition transcript as "CONFIDENTIAL" within thirty (30) calendar days of 8 receiving the transcript. Any DVD or other digital storage medium containing Confidential 9 deposition testimony shall be labeled in accordance with the provisions of Section 7.

10 11. Persons Authorized to Receive Confidential Information: Confidential
 11 Information produced pursuant to this Protective Order may be disclosed or made available only 12 to the Court, its employees, other court personnel, any discovery referee, mediator or other 13 official who may be appointed by the Court, and to the persons below (the "Authorized 14 Recipient"):

- 15 (a) A Party, or officers, directors, employees, and agents of a Party deemed necessary by 16 counsel to aid in the prosecution, defense, or settlement of this action;
- 17 (b) Counsel for a Party (including in house attorneys, outside attorneys associated with a 18 law firm(s) of record, and paralegal, clerical, and secretarial staff employed by such counsel);
- 19 (c) Persons retained by a Party to provide litigation support services (photocopying, 20 videotaping, translating, preparing exhibits or demonstrations, organizing, storing, 21 retrieving data in any form or medium, etc.);
- 22 (d) Consultants or expert witnesses (together with their support staff) retained by a Party 23 or its counsel for the prosecution or defense of this litigation, provided that such an expert or 24 consultant is not a current employee of a direct competitor of a Party named in this action,¹
- 25 (e) Court reporter(s) and videographers(s) employed in this action;
- 26 (f) Any authors or recipients of the Confidential Information;

27 ¹ A party may seek leave of court to provide information to a consultant employed by a competitor.
 28

1 (g) A witness at any deposition or other proceeding in this action, who shall sign the 2 Confidentiality Agreement attached as "Exhibit A" to this Protective Order before being 3 shown a confidential document; and

4 (h) Any other person as to whom the Parties in writing agree or that the Court in these 5 proceedings so designates.

6 Any person to whom Confidential Information is disclosed pursuant to subparts (a) 7 through (h) hereinabove shall be advised that the Confidential Information is being disclosed 8 pursuant to an order of the Court, that the information may not be disclosed by such person to any 9 person not permitted to have access to the Confidential Information pursuant to this Protective 10 Order, and that any violation of this Protective Order may result in the imposition of such 11 sanctions as the Court deems proper. Any person to whom Confidential Information is disclosed 12 pursuant to subpart (c), (d), (g), or (h) of this section shall also be required to execute a copy of 13 the form Exhibit A. The persons shall agree in writing to be bound by the terms of this Protective 14 Order by executing a copy of Exhibit A (which shall be maintained by the counsel of record for 15 the Party seeking to reveal the Confidential Information) in advance of being shown the 16 Confidential Information. No Party (or its counsel) shall discourage any persons from signing a 17 copy of Exhibit A. If a person refuses to execute a copy of Exhibit A, the Party seeking to reveal 18 the Confidential Information shall seek an order from the Court directing that the person be bound 19 by this Protective Order. In the event of the filing of such a motion, Confidential Information may 20 not be disclosed to such person until the Court resolves the issue. Proof of each written agreement 21 provided for under this Section shall be maintained by each of the Parties while this action is 22 pending and disclosed to the other Parties upon good cause shown and upon order of the Court.

23 12. Filing of Confidential Information With Court: Any Party seeking to file or 24 disclose materials designated as Confidential Information with the Court in this action must seek 25 to file such Confidential Information under seal pursuant to LR IA 10-5 of the U.S. District Court 26 Rules for the District of Nevada for Sealing Court Records. The Designating Party will have the 27 burden to provide the Court with any information necessary to support the designation as 28 Confidential Information.

1 13. Notice to Nonparties: Any Party issuing a subpoena to a nonparty shall enclose a 2 copy of this Protective Order and advise the nonparty that it may designate any Discovery
3 Material it produces pursuant to the terms of this Protective Order as Confidential Information 4 should the nonparty producing party wish to do so. This Protective Order shall be binding in favor
5 of nonparty designating parties to the maximum extent permitted by law. Any nonparty invoking 6 the Protective Order shall comply with, and be subject to, all applicable sections of the Protective 7 Order. Any documents received by a Party in response to a subpoena or other legal process served 8 on a nonparty shall, within fourteen (14) calendar days of receipt of the documents from the 9 nonparty, be produced to all the Parties to this action. The Parties may then designate all or some 10 of the documents produced by the nonparty as Confidential Information in accordance with this 11 Protective Order.

12 14. Knowledge of Unauthorized Use or Possession: If a Party receiving Confidential
13 Information learns of any possession, knowledge, use or disclosure of any Confidential 14 Information in violation of the terms of this Protective Order, the Receiving Party shall 15 immediately notify in writing the Party that produced the Confidential Information. The 16 Receiving Party shall promptly furnish the Producing Party with the full details of such 17 possession, knowledge, use or disclosure. With respect to such unauthorized possession, 18 knowledge, use or disclosure the Receiving Party shall assist the Producing Party in remedying 19 the disclosure (e.g., by retrieving the Confidential Information from an unauthorized recipient) 20 and/or by preventing its recurrence.

21 15. Copies, Summaries or Abstracts: Any copies, summaries, abstracts or exact 22 duplications of Confidential Information shall be marked “CONFIDENTIAL” and shall be 23 considered Confidential Information subject to the terms and conditions of this Protective Order.
24 Attorney-client communications and attorney work product regarding Confidential Information, 25 as permitted by this Protective Order, shall not be subject to this section, regardless of whether 26 they summarize, abstract, paraphrase, or otherwise reflect Confidential Information.

27 16. Information Not Confidential: The restrictions set forth in this Protective Order 28 shall not be construed to apply to any information or materials that:

- 1 (a) Were lawfully in the Receiving Party's possession prior to such information being 2 designated as Confidential Information in this action, and that the Receiving Party is not 3 otherwise obligated to treat as confidential;
- 4 (b) Were obtained without any benefit or use of Confidential Information from a third 5 party having the right to disclose such information to the Receiving Party without restriction or 6 obligation of confidentiality;
- 7 (c) Were independently developed after the time of disclosure by persons who did not 8 have access to the Producing Party's Confidential Information;
- 9 (d) Have been or become part of the public domain by publication or otherwise and not 10 due to any unauthorized act or omission on the part of a Receiving Party; or 11 (e) Under law, have been declared to be in the public domain.

12 17. Challenges to Designations: Any Party may object to the designation of 13 Confidential Information on the ground that such information does not constitute Confidential 14 Information by serving written notice upon counsel for the Producing Party within ninety (90) 15 calendar days of the date the item(s) was designated, specifying the item(s) in question and the 16 ground(s) for the objection. The Producing Party shall have thirty (30) calendar days to respond 17 to the challenge of designation. If a Party objects to the designation of any materials as 18 Confidential Information, the Party challenging the designation shall arrange for meet and confer 19 to be held within ten (10) court days of service of the response to the designation challenge by the 20 Producing Party to attempt to informally resolve the dispute. If the Parties cannot resolve the 21 matter, the Party challenging the designation may file a motion with the Court to resolve the 22 dispute. Such motions must be filed within ten (10) court days following the meet and confer.
23 This Protective Order shall not affect the burden of proof on any such motion, or impose any 24 burdens upon any Party that would not exist had the Protective Order not been entered; as a 25 general matter, the burden shall be on the person making the designation to establish the propriety 26 of the designation. Any contested information shall continue to be treated as Confidential 27 Information and subject to this Protective Order until such time as such motion has been ruled 28 upon.

1 18. Use in Court: If any Confidential Information is used in any pretrial Court 2 proceeding in this action, it shall not necessarily lose its confidential status through such use, and 3 the Party using such information shall take all reasonable steps consistent with the U.S. District 4 Court Rules for the District of Nevada governing Sealing Court Records and LR IC 6-1 to 5 maintain its confidentiality during such use.

6 19. Reservation of Rights: The Parties each reserve the right to seek or oppose 7 additional or different protection for particular information, documents, materials, items or things, 8 including but not limited to, items which they consider to be attorney's eyes only in nature. This 9 Protective Order shall neither enlarge nor affect the proper scope of discovery in this action. In 10 addition, this Protective Order shall not limit or circumscribe in any manner any rights the Parties 11 (or their respective counsel) may have under common law or pursuant to any state, federal, or 12 foreign statute or regulation, and/or ethical rule.

13 20. Inadvertent Failure to Designate: The inadvertent failure to designate 14 information produced in discovery as Confidential shall not be deemed, by itself, to be a waiver 15 of the right to so designate such discovery materials as Confidential Information. Within a 16 reasonable time of learning of any such inadvertent failure, the Producing Party shall notify all 17 Receiving Parties of such inadvertent failure and shall take such other steps as necessary to 18 correct such failure after becoming aware of it. Disclosure of such discovery materials to any 19 other person prior to later designation of the discovery materials in accordance with this section 20 shall not violate the terms of this Protective Order. However, immediately upon being notified of 21 an inadvertent failure to designate, all Parties shall treat such information as though properly 22 designated, and shall take any actions necessary to prevent any future unauthorized disclosure, 23 use, or possession.

24 21. No Waiver of Privilege: Disclosure (including production) of information after 25 the entry of this Protective Order that a Party or nonparty later claims was inadvertent and should 26 not have been disclosed because of a privilege, including, but not limited to, the attorney-client 27 privilege or work product doctrine ("Privileged Information"), shall not constitute a waiver of, or 28 estoppel as to, any claim of attorney-client privilege, attorney work product, or other ground for

1 withholding production as to which the Disclosing or Producing Party would be entitled in this 2 action.

3 22. Effect of Disclosure of Privileged Information: The Receiving Party hereby 4 agrees to promptly return, sequester, or destroy any Privileged Information disclosed or produced 5 by a Disclosing or Producing Party upon request by the Disclosing or Producing Party regardless 6 of whether the Receiving Party disputes the designation of Privileged Information. The Receiving 7 Party may sequester (rather than return or destroy) such Privileged Information only if it contends 8 that the information itself is not privileged or otherwise protected and it challenges the privilege 9 designation, in which case it may only sequester the information until the claim of privilege or 10 other protection is resolved. If any Party disputes the privilege claim (“Objecting Party”), that 11 Objecting Party shall object in writing by notifying the Producing Party of the dispute and the 12 basis therefor. The Parties thereafter shall meet and confer in good faith regarding the disputed 13 claim within fourteen (14) business days after service of the written objection. In the event that 14 the Parties do not resolve their dispute, the Objecting Party may bring a motion for a 15 determination of whether a privilege applies within fourteen (14) business days following the 16 meet and confer session, but may only contest the asserted privileges on grounds other than the 17 inadvertent production of such document(s). In making such a motion, the Objecting Party shall 18 not disclose the content of the document(s) at issue, but may refer to the information contained on 19 the privilege log. Nothing herein shall relieve counsel from abiding by applicable ethical rules 20 regarding inadvertent disclosure and discovery of inadvertently disclosed privileged or otherwise 21 protected material. The failure of any Party to provide notice or instructions under this section 22 shall not constitute a waiver of, or estoppel as to, any claim of attorney-client privilege, attorney 23 work product, or other ground for withholding production as to which the Disclosing or 24 Producing Party would be entitled in this action.

25 23. Inadvertent Production of Non-Discoverable Documents: If a Producing Party 26 inadvertently produces a document that contains no discoverable information, the Producing 27 Party may request in writing that the Receiving Party return the document, and the Receiving 28 Party shall return the document. A Producing Party may not request the return of a document

1 pursuant to this section if the document contains any discoverable information. If a Producing 2 Party inadvertently fails to redact privileged or work product information, the Producing Party 3 may provide the Receiving Party a substitute version of the document that redacts the 4 information, and the Receiving Party shall return the original, unredacted document to the 5 Producing Party.

6 24. Return of Information: Within thirty (30) days after the final disposition of this 7 action, all discovery materials containing Confidential Information produced by an opposing 8 Party or nonparty (including, without limitation, any copies, extracts or summaries thereof) as 9 part of discovery in this action shall be destroyed by the Parties to whom the discovery materials 10 containing Confidential Information was produced, and each counsel shall, by declaration 11 delivered to all counsel for the Producing Party, affirm that all such discovery materials 12 containing Confidential Information (including, without limitation, any copies, extracts or 13 summaries thereof) have been destroyed; provided, however, that each counsel shall be entitled to 14 retain pleadings, motions and memoranda in support thereof, declarations or affidavits, deposition 15 transcripts and videotapes, or documents reflecting attorney work product or consultant or expert 16 work product, even if such material contains or refers to discovery materials containing 17 Confidential Information, but only to the extent necessary to preserve a litigation file with respect 18 to this action. Counsel are not required to destroy or certify destruction of Confidential 19 Information replicated on automatic archival or data backup systems maintained by counsel.

20 25. Attorney's Fees: Nothing in this Protective Order is intended to either expand or 21 limit a prevailing party's right under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure or other applicable state 22 or federal law to pursue costs and attorney's fees incurred related to confidentiality designations 23 or the abuse of the process described herein.

24 26. Injunctive Relief and Sanctions Available for Unauthorized Disclosure or Use 25 of Confidential Information: The Parties and/or nonparties shall not utilize any Confidential 26 Information for their own personal and/or business advantage or gain, aside from purpose(s) 27 solely related to the instant litigation. The Parties and nonparties acknowledge and agree that 28 unauthorized use and/or disclosure of Confidential Information beyond this litigation shall subject

1 the offending Party or nonparty to sanctions contemplated in Fed. R. Civ. P. 37(b)(2)(A), up to 2 and including entry of judgment against the offending Party in circumstances involving willful 3 disobedience with this Protective Order. Further, the Parties and/or nonparties receiving or being 4 given access to Confidential Information acknowledge that monetary remedies would be 5 inadequate to protect each Party in the case of unauthorized disclosure or use of Confidential 6 Information that the Receiving Party only received through discovery in this action and that 7 injunctive relief would be necessary and appropriate to protect each Party's rights in the event 8 there is any such unauthorized disclosure or use of Confidential Information. The availability of 9 injunctive relief to protect against the unauthorized disclosure or use of Confidential Information 10 shall not be exclusive.

11 27. Other Actions and Proceedings: If a Receiving Party (a) is subpoenaed in 12 another action, investigation, or proceeding, (b) is served with a demand in another action, 13 investigation, or proceeding, or (c) is served with any legal process by one not a party to this 14 Protective Order, seeking materials which were produced or designated as Confidential pursuant 15 to this Protective Order, the Receiving Party shall give prompt actual written notice by electronic 16 transmission to counsel of record for such Producing Party within five (5) business days of receipt 17 of such subpoena, demand or legal process, or such shorter notice as may be required to provide 18 other parties with the opportunity to object to the immediate production of the requested 19 discovery materials to the extent permitted by law. The burden of opposing enforcement of the 20 subpoena shall fall upon the Party or nonparty who produced or designated the Discovery 21 Material as Confidential Information. Unless the Party or nonparty who produced or designated 22 the Confidential Information obtains an order directing that the subpoena not be complied with, 23 and serves such order upon the Receiving Party prior to production pursuant to the subpoena, the 24 Receiving Party shall be permitted to produce documents responsive to the subpoena on the 25 subpoena response date. Compliance by the Receiving Party with any order directing production 26 pursuant to a subpoena of any Confidential Information shall not constitute a violation of this 27 Protective Order. Nothing in this Protective Order shall be construed as authorizing a Party to 28 disobey a lawful subpoena issued in another action.

1 28. Order Survives Termination: This Protective Order shall survive the termination 2 of this action, and the Court shall retain jurisdiction to resolve any dispute concerning the use of 3 information disclosed hereunder.

THE HONORABLE ELAYNA J. YOUCHAH
UNITED STATES MAGISTRATE JUDGE

DATED: September 21, 2023

EXHIBIT "A"

CONFIDENTIALITY AGREEMENT

I, _____ do hereby acknowledge and agree, under penalty of perjury, as follows:

1. I have read the Stipulated Confidentiality Agreement and Protective Order (the "Protective Order") entered in Tetsuya Nakamura v. Sunday Group Incorporated, 2:22-cv-01324-MMD-EJY, on _____, ____, and I fully understand its contents.

8 2. I hereby agree and consent to be bound by the terms of the Protective Order and to 9 comply with it in all respects, and to that end, I hereby knowingly and voluntarily submit and 10 subject myself to the personal jurisdiction of the United States District Court, District of Nevada 11 so that the said court shall have the power and authority to enforce the Protective Order and to 12 impose appropriate sanctions upon me for knowingly violating the Protective Order, including 13 punishment for contempt of court for a knowing violation of the Protective Order.

14 3. I understand that by signing this instrument, I will be eligible to receive “Confidential 15 Information” under the terms and conditions of the Protective Order. I further understand and 16 agree that I must treat any “Confidential Information” in accordance with the terms and 17 conditions of the Protective Order, and that, if I should knowingly make a disclosure of any such 18 information in a manner unauthorized by the Protective Order, I will have violated a court order, 19 will be in contempt of court, and will be subject to punishment by the court for such conduct.
